Dear Burford Families,

October is Black History Month and we are celebrating this year's theme 'reclaiming narratives.' This month, in your children's lessons and assemblies, we will be recognising Black History and culture and correcting inaccurate narratives. Therefore, if any of our Burford families would like to share any inspiring stories, they have which may be relevant to Black History Month, for example, connections to the Windrush generation from the late 1940s, we would love to hear from you. Perhaps you could share a story for the newsletter, or join us for as a 'guest speaker' at one of our aspiration assemblies this month. If you are interested, please email the school office.

In other news, I am disappointed to report that Burford School was in the Bucks Free Press last week for 'inconsiderate' parking outside our school. As the weather starts to cool, can I please remind all parents of courteous and safe parking when dropping and picking up your children. Please do not park on the yellow zigzags outside the school gate, nor sit in your vehicles idling to keep warm. We are working with our local PCSO, Chris Bis, who will start patrolling the roads outside our school to remind parents of considerate parking to keep Marlow Bottom safe for children and adults alike.

And finally, congratulations to our Year 6 House Captains who were successful in achieving their status. I am very excited to be working with our House Captains, who are ambassadors of our Burford Values; well done everyone. Also, congratulations to our newly appointed School Council members from Year 1 to Year 6 and our Play Leaders. I am equally delighted for you too 😊

Thank you for your support,

Mrs Marshall

Parent Representatives

Thank you to everyone who has volunteered to be a Parent Representative for this academic year so far.

If you would like to be a Parent Rep, please email office@burfordschool.co.uk ASAP. If more than one parent per class volunteers, it is possible to share the responsibility.

The purpose of the parent forum meetings is to gather constructive feedback and for the parents and school to work in partnership to improve outcomes for the children. Parent Reps will gather feedback from the parents in their class and have the opportunity to discuss this with me. This year, all comments and answers will be headed under phases of education (EYFS/KS1/KS2) to anonymise the parent feedback. We also ask for their help with cake sales and organising class stalls for the school fayres.

Parent Representatives need to be able to attend Parent Forum meetings via Teams that take place once every half term on a Thursday between 9:30am and 10:00am on the following dates:

House Captains

Before the summer holidays, all our current Year 6 children were invited to stand for election as a house captain. There was a tremendous response, with lots of amazing Burford children not only standing but delivering excellent speeches to all the KS2 children about why they thought they would make a great house captain. All the children in KS2 voted for two children in their house who they thought would make a great house captain. The Burford staff also voted. All of the children received support and we are very proud of all of the candidates who took that brave step to stand for election. After the summer holidays, the results were announced and the following children were confirmed as House Captains 2024/25:

Ruby: Thu An H, Megan T, Dylan W

Emerald: Thomas L, Freddie M, Evie N

Sapphire: Toby M, Kitty P, Bella R

Topaz: Molly H, Charlie P, Yuj R

The house captains have already begun their duties, totalling up every Dojo Point in each class around the school every Friday, with weekly results revealed in the Monday phase assemblies. Through the year, the house captains will help around the school, supporting at house events, welcoming guests and representing our school values to the rest of the school.

Reading

On Friday 11th October 2024, we are delighted to be welcoming children's author Philip Kavadias, who has just written a new book called 'Mission Microraptor' to speak with the children in KS2.

Parents/carers have the opportunity to order discounted copies of his book which Philip has agreed to sign for your children following his visit.

The price is £4 per book and available to purchase through Parent Pay until 18th October.

Two boys and a microraptor. A dark, mysterious forest. And a squad of army-trained mercenaries searching for them. What could possibly go wrong? Falling behind their classmates on a school trip to the Alps, Finn and Milo stumble upon an egg buried in ice. Later that night it hatches and a 65-million-year-old baby is born: Arty is a microraptor brought back from extinction. But keeping her safe proves harder.

Wicked scientists will do anything to get their hands on her, and soon Finn and Milo must run for their lives...

National Poetry Day

Happy National Poetry Day!

On Wednesday, Year Six wrote 'taster drafts' in English.

An image was used to stimulate vocabulary. After that, pupils were shown just 3 lines from the poem 'High Flight' by J G Magee. They created their own 'taster drafts' and could include some, or all, of the 3 given lines.

High in the sunlit silence. Hov'ring there, I've chased the shouting winds along, and flung my eager craft through footless halls of air...

I followed the howling stream of air
The blinding luminous moon twinkled gently
as I zoomed there.
The ebony, dark sky twisted like magical roots.
I flung my eager craft through the never-ending glow of late-night workers in a city where children were tossing in their sleep.

The calming noise of nothing in a silent world, it was as though I was not moving an inch.
Like sailors, the stars danced, drifting through spell-binding seas.
The world around me turned into an ocean.
My plane turned into a weightless boat and the sky cried with hope to never break.

Flying high, swiftly swirling and twirling through the silent evening.
As I look down, I see the towering buildings of the city below me.
Up I go into the heavens.
I see the clouds gradually arriving and leaving.
Hovering there, I've chased the shouting winds along, and flung my eager craft through the footless halls of air.
The wind pulls me to the rhythm of the breeze.
I fly through the silky-smooth mist with ease.
In the distance, I see the shadow of the moon reflecting the sun's rays.

High in the sunlit silence,
I chased the scurrying clouds along.
I raced the light,
Weightless, carefree.
The fingers of the wind pushed me up, pulled me down, took me all around.
I soared over a city, a sea.
I watched the birds dance, riding the air, twirling, gliding effortlessly.
I laughed.
I am free.

The sunlit silence calmed me,
as if I was gliding through air like a swan.
Hovering there created peace,
the shouting winds stopped,
the clouds cleared,
my eager craft flung,
flung through the endless halls of air.

The turbulence calmed.
Luxurious lakes below glimmered in the swift, soft
air.
Everything was still,
everything except the pitter patter of raindrops landing on the window right above my head.
Silence.
The soaring rain stopped,
the burning sun peeked through the clouds,
blinding.

You can come too,
experience the peace,
the calm,
hop in.

As I swooped, as I soared, suddenly everything – all my thoughts – had disappeared.
I just sat there, listening to the wind
rush past me.
Nothing could worry me now.
I felt free with the whole sky to explore.
If only I could stay here longer.
How much more would I see?

One day in the sunlit silence, I was soaring above the world, bossing the peaceful sky wherever I went.

"Don't look down," sang a voice in my head.

Hov'ring there, I chased the shouting winds along and slung my eager craft through footless halls of air.

I heard birds chirping far, far, far down below.

I felt like I was floating up, up, up until I reached space, with the engines bursting my eardrums and the towering sun blinding me.

Zooming through the earth's surface, my heart somersaulted.

You can't stop me when I see that wonderful orange sky.

I felt like I was on a rollercoaster with impeccable views.

You can't stop me.

Soaring through the sunlit air,
No-one knows who may be there.
Gasping for the hovering wind,
Climbing through the halls of air.
Forces push away my snare.
Climbing a stair, ascending up to the sky,
hopefully I'll learn to fly.
All the weightless stars in sight lead up to the blackest night.

High in the sunlit silence,
gliding in bubbles of clouds.
My eager craft crawls through footless halls of air as I accelerate in my crooked chair.
Swooping into freedom and soaring into high altitude.
My heart somersaults as the explosive force pushes me back
Now, as I take the wailing wind, the uplifting shadows smother me with peace.
Here I lie, overwhelmed with joy,
dancing in the patterns of the boiled sun.

High in the whispering clouds, I chased the whirring winds along and flung my speeding craft like an eagle through the sunlit silence of the air. Through footless halls of wind, I peacefully passed Big Ben. My heart somersaulted as I looped the loop through the silky, cotton clouds. Straight ahead was my favourite moment, the orange sizzling sunrise. It was staring at me like we were in a contest. When I looked around, I saw birds everywhere. Hov'ring there, I sped with pride through the clouds. As I floated past the exploding horizon, a colourful fluorescent bird landed on my spitfire and we shared a memorable moment together.

I've chased the shouting winds along, high in the sunlit silence.
And I flung my eager craft through footless halls of air.
I looked down and saw the houses below.
I looked up to see the sunlight telling me where to go.
I wish I could stay up here happy and free because I feel like this is where I need to be.
But I have to go home, back to reality.
But I will come back tomorrow.
Here.
Where I belong.

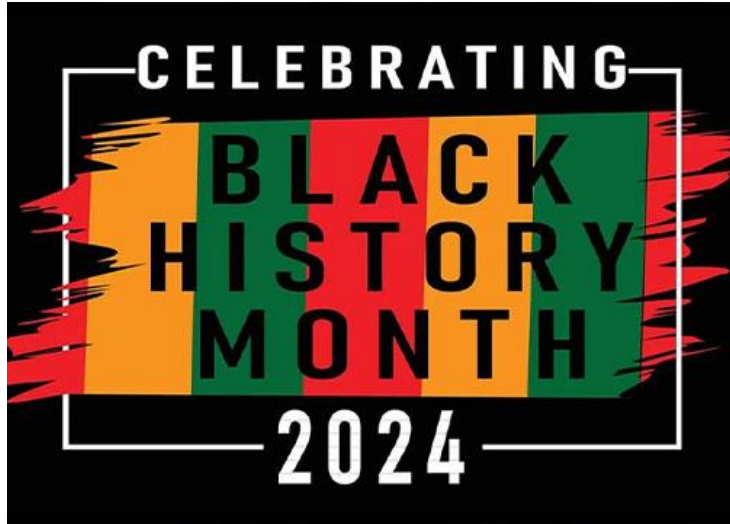

Flying high in the sky will take away your problems.
Life is the best when you're doing your best, so fly!
No more worries or anger. Leave it in the air.
Go, go, fly away and I will meet you up there.

Black History Month

October is Black History Month and the theme this year is 'Reclaiming Narratives'. There is an emphasis on recognising and understanding the stories of Black history and culture.

As a school, we will be celebrating the lives and historical contributions, from Katherine Johnson to Rosa Parks, through assemblies and class discussions. We will be discussing the impact of these brave people in our history along with the continued efforts of raising awareness for equality and inclusiveness.

Gift of Opportunity

The Gift of Opportunity Fund runs every academic year to raise income for projects of immediate need around the school.

The projects funded will enhance and broaden the educational experience of the pupils at Burford.
